The exercising of voting rights is restricted under Article 40 of the Articles of Association in order to safeguard the rights of small shareholders:

The maximum number of votes that may be cast by a shareholder is 10 per cent of the votes to be issued at the General Meeting in question, irrespective of the number of shares owned. This restriction does not apply where a holding of more than 10 per cent of the share capital is acquired under the applicable law by the Bank Deposit Guarantee Fund [Fondo de Garantía de Depósitos en Establecimientos Bancarios].

For the purpose of determining the maximum number of votes that may be cast by a shareholder, only shares actually held by the shareholder in question shall be counted and the shares of any other shareholder or shareholders who have appointed him as a proxy shall not be included; the same limit of 10 per cent shall apply individually to each shareholder voting by proxy.

The restriction contained in the previous paragraphs shall likewise apply to the maximum number of votes that may be cast, whether jointly or individually, by two or more corporate shareholders belonging to the same group of companies and to the maximum number of votes that may be cast by an individual or corporate shareholder and any corporate shareholder or shareholders over which he or it has direct or indirect control.

In determining whether a group of companies exists or whether control is exercised for the purposes of the previous paragraph, Article 4 of the Stock Market Act shall apply.

Without prejudice to the restrictions on voting rights imposed above, all shares represented in person or by proxy at the General Meeting shall be counted for the purposes of determining whether a quorum is present, but the limit of 10 per cent established by this Article shall nevertheless apply to all such shares when a vote is taken.

State whether there are any restrictions under the law on the acquisition or transfer of shares in the capital:

Any vacancies on the Board shall be filled by the General Meeting, unless the Board, in the interests of the Company, decides to co-opt directors in the terms of Article 138 of the SA Companies Act. The Nomination and Remuneration Committee is responsible inter alia for submitting proposals to the Board regarding the appointment of Directors, in which case the Board may either make the appointments directly (co-opting) or accept the recommendations and submit them to the General Meeting. The Committee is also responsible for evaluating suitable candidates for membership of the various committees and making recommendations to the Board accordingly. It is responsible in particular for ensuring compliance with the rules governing the different categories of Directors on the Board.

Directors shall be removed from office at the end of the period for which they were appointed or as decided by the General Meeting or the Board of Directors under the authority vested in them by the law or the Articles of Association. Committee

AUDIT AND CONTROL COMMITTEE

Brief description

Specific provision is made for the Committee in the Articles of Association (Article 59 bis) and in the Regulations of the Board of Directors (Article 13). Article 59 bis was last amended by resolution of the General Meeting on 25 March 2010, which increased the number of Directors "to a maximum of five". Basic rules on the organization, procedure and governance of the Audit and Control Committee were approved by a decision of the Audit and Control Committee at its meeting of 20 October 2003. These Rules of Procedure were approved and ratified, where applicable, by the Board of Directors of the Bank at a meeting on 30 October 2003 and were executed in a public deed on 18 November 2003 before the Sabadell notary Mr. Javier Micó Giner.

The Audit and Control Committee is responsible for reviewing the report of the Head of Internal Audit or the Comptroller General to ensure that banking and accounting best practice is being applied at all levels of the organization and to see that the General Manager and other senior executive functions take appropriate action in response to any conduct or working methods in the organization that could be inappropriate. The Committee is also responsible for ensuring that all measures, policies and strategies laid down by the Board are properly implemented.

The Committee meets at least once a quarter, and whenever called by its Chairman on his own initiative or at the request of any Committee member or at the request of the Chairman of the Board of Directors or the external auditors, in order to perform the duties for which it is responsible.

It consists of four Non-executive Directors appointed by the Board, one of whom is a substitute; the Board also appoints the Committee Chairman, whose term of office is a maximum of four years, after which he is ineligible for re-appointment for one year after the end of his term.

The Board of Directors shall also appoint a Secretary to the Committee, who may not be a Director. The Secretary shall draw up the minutes of each meeting, which are approved at the same meeting or the immediately following one. The proceedings of meetings are reported to the Board of Directors at its next meeting, by reading out the minutes of each Committee meeting.

Without prejudice to such other duties as may be assigned to it by the Board, the Committee has the following basic responsibilities:

- a) Reporting to the General Meeting on questions put to it by shareholders on matters within its remit.
- b) Making recommendations to the Board of Directors, for submission to the General Meeting, regarding the appointment of the external auditors, their terms of engagement, their professional remit, and the termination or non-renewal of their appointment; reviewing the performance of the auditing contract, and ensuring that the auditor's opinion on the annual accounts and the main contents of the auditor's report are drafted in clear, precise terms.
- c) Reporting on the annual accounts and the quarterly and half-yearly financial statements and the prospectuses required to be filed with supervisory or regulatory authorities, ensuring that legal requirements are complied with and that generally accepted accounting principles are properly applied, and reporting on any proposed changes to those principles.
- d) Supervising the internal audit department and reviewing the appointment and replacement of key personnel.
- e) Keeping up to date with the process of financial reporting and the systems of internal control within the Company.
- f) Maintaining contact with the external Auditor so as to receive information on any issues that could threaten their independence or otherwise have a bearing on the auditing process, and on any other reports concerned with the auditing of accounts or required by legislation or by the regulations governing the auditing profession.
- g) Reporting on all matters referred to it by the Board of Directors within its area of responsibility.
- h) All other responsibilities assigned to it by law or by the Articles of Association and any regulations made thereunder and any deriving from general rules on corporate governance.

In addition, the Committee will have the following duties:

1. To ensure compliance with the law, internal regulations and requirements regulating the Company's business.
2. To evaluate the sufficiency of and compliance with the Regulations of the General Meeting, the Regulations of the Board of Directors, the Company's Code of Conduct and in particular the Internal Rules of Conduct in matters relating to the Stock Market.
3. To examine the degree of compliance with the regulations governing the Company, and to propose to the Board of Directors any improvements it considers appropriate; and
4. To supervise the corporate governance report to be approved by the Board of Directors for inclusion in the annual report and accounts.

Brief description

Section B.2.3 sets out the sections of the Articles of Association or of the Board Regulations containing the rules of procedure and responsibilities of the various committees. These documents are available on the website (www.grupobancosabadell.com/en) under "Shareholder and Investor Information" > "Corporate governance".

The Audit and Control Committee has drawn up Rules of Procedure setting out its duties and procedures, which have been filed with the Mercantile Registry and are also available on the website (www.grupbancsabadell.com). This Committee draws up an annual report of its activities, which is submitted to the Board of Directors for information.

The Regulations of the Board of Directors were amended In 2010 by resolution of the Board dated 18 February 2010, which modified the number of Directors, with the result that the Committee is now composed of a maximum of five Directors.

B.2.6. State whether the composition of the Executive Committee reflects the proportional split between the different categories of Directors:

NO

If not, explain the composition of the Executive Committee.

The composition of the Executive Committee is established in the Regulations of the Board of Directors: it shall have a minimum of 3 and a maximum of 5 members, including its Chairman, who shall be the Chairman of the Board. The other members shall be freely appointed by the Board from among the Directors. The Board shall also appoint its Secretary, who need not be a Director.

The composition and duties of the Executive Committee do not reflect this proportional split since the Executive Committee's only duty is to coordinate the executive management of the Bank and its responsibilities only extend to the powers of its members in the terms decided by the Board. The Executive Committee as such has no powers delegated to it by the Board.

C – TRANSACTIONS WITH RELATED PARTIES

C.2. List any significant transactions involving a transfer of funds or obligations between the Company or a group undertaking and a significant shareholder of the Company:

C.3. List any significant transactions involving a transfer of funds or obligations between the Company or a group undertaking and a director or senior executive of the Company.

C.5. State whether during the year the members of the Board of Directors have been involved in any conflict of interests, in the terms of Article 127 ter of the SA Companies Act.

NO

C.6 Specify the mechanisms available to detect, identify and resolve possible conflicts of interest arising between the Company and/or the group and Directors, senior managers and significant shareholders.

The main instruments which the Banco Sabadell Group has put in place to deal with possible conflicts of interest among its Directors, senior executives and significant shareholders are as follows:

1. Under the Regulations of the Board of Directors, Board members are bound by a duty of loyalty and confidentiality and are required to disclose any interest they may have in the Company itself or in other companies outside the Group.

Specifically, Article 12 of the Regulations states that a Director may not provide professional services to Spanish companies whose corporate objects, or any part thereof, are similar to those of the Company. An exception is made for offices they hold in companies in the same group. Before accepting any management post in another company or undertaking, a Director must notify the Nomination and Remuneration Committee.

Article 27 of the Regulations of the Board of Directors states that Directors must inform the Company of the shares they own in it directly or through companies in which they have a significant holding. They must also inform the Company of any other shares owned directly or indirectly by their immediate family. Directors must also inform the Company of all posts they hold and activities they perform in other companies or undertakings, and in general any fact or situation that may be relevant to their conduct as a Director of the Company.

2. The Banco Sabadell Group's Code of Conduct provides a set of rules for the guidance of all persons employed by the Group and its stakeholders (customers, suppliers, shareholders, central, regional and local government and the local community) based on principles which we consider fundamental to carrying on business.

It expressly contemplates the rules applicable to possible conflicts of interest with customers and suppliers and sets out guidelines for such cases.

3. At its meeting on 26 November 2009, the Board of Directors passed a resolution to adhere to the Standard Internal Rules of Conduct for matters relating to the Stock Market [Reglamento-Tipo Interno de Conducta en el ámbito del Mercado de Valores] drawn up by the Spanish Banking Association and adopted by the stock market regulator (CNMV) on 7 May 2009.

These Rules contain a specific section (Four) titled "Priority of customer's interests and conflicts of interest". This section contains, among other points: (i) a definition of conflict of interest; (ii) possible conflicts; (iii) identification of situations of conflict of interests; (iv) prevention of conflicts; (v) information on conflicts of interest; (vi) settlement of conflicts.

With respect of point (v) it states: "Persons subject to the rules shall make a declaration to the group, which they shall keep up to date, setting out significant relations of a financial, business, family or other nature with customers of the group for services related to the stock market or listed companies."

At all events the direct or indirect ownership of a holding of over 5% of the shares in companies that are customers for stock market services, provided it is known that the company is a customer of the group and that the work involves significant services, or holdings of over 1% in listed companies, shall be considered an economic relationship.

Relations up to the second degree of consanguinity or affinity (ascendants, descendants, siblings and spouses of siblings) with customers for stock market services (with the same exception provided above) or with persons holding administrative or management posts in companies that are customers for such services or with listed companies shall at all events be considered a family relationship.

The declaration shall also include other relationships that, in the opinion of a neutral, independent observer, could compromise the impartiality of a Director or employee. In the event of reasonable doubt in this respect, Directors and employees must consult the ad hoc body.

4. The Banco Sabadell Group's Corporate Ethics Committee, composed of senior executives representing a range of operating areas, is responsible for fostering ethical conduct throughout the organization and for making proposals and giving advice to the Board of Directors and the group's central services and business units on decisions involving issues that could lead to conflicts of securities. The Committee is also responsible for overseeing the Group's compliance with its self-imposed obligations as set out in the Code of Conduct or in the Internal Rules of Conduct for dealing on the stock market.

To help it in this task, the Corporate Ethics Committee can call upon the resources of the Compliance Department, which has been given extensive powers by the Board to gain access to all documents and information it requires to perform its supervisory function.

5. The Banco Sabadell's general policy regarding conflicts of interest lays down precise rules, procedures and ratings that guarantee that decisions within the Group with respect to the provision of investment services are made so as to avoid, eliminate or, in the ultimate instance, reveal the conflict of interest to the customer.

This policy takes account of potential conflicts of interest that could arise as a consequence of the structure and activities of other companies in the Group, as well as measures to prevent conflicts of interest within the Banco Sabadell Group.

The general policy on conflicts of interest in the Banco Sabadell Group includes aspects that help identify the presence of a conflict of interest and describe how to deal with it.

The Compliance Department is responsible for correctly applying the policy, and when necessary it will urge the other departments in the Group to take the necessary action.

6. The rules governing the handling of conflicts of interest in the Group include measures to be taken by employees to deal with such conflicts of interest.

If such conflicts cannot be handled internally, they must be notified to the Compliance Department, which will take the necessary steps to resolve the issue.

C.7. Is more than one company in the Group listed in Spain?

NO

Identify the subsidiaries listed in Spain.

D – RISK CONTROL SYSTEMS

D.1. Overview of Company and/or Group policy with regard to risk, giving details and assessments of the risks covered by the system and explanations to show the effectiveness of the system for each type of risk:

Risk is inherent in any banking business. Banco Sabadell is aware that the accurate and efficient management and control of risk helps to maximize shareholder value and ensure an appropriate level of solvency.

Risk management and control at Banco Sabadell comprises a comprehensive array of principles, policies, procedures and advanced valuation methods integrated within an effective decision-making structure.

Banco Sabadell has established a number of fundamental principles governing the management and control of risk. These are:

Solvency

Banco Sabadell has opted for a prudent and balanced risk policy to ensure sustained, profitable business growth in line with the Group's strategic objective of maximizing value creation.

A structure of limitations is vital to ensure that concentrations of risk do not build up that could compromise a significant proportion of the Group's resources. Consequently, the risk variable is included in decision-taking across the organization and is quantified using a single measure: economic capital.

Responsibility

The Board of Directors is committed to processes for the management and control of risk: approval of policies, limits, management models and procedures, measurement techniques, and supervision and control. At the executive level there is a clear separation of functions between risk-originating business units and the units responsible for managing and controlling risk.

Risk management and control

The ongoing management of risk is supported by robust control procedures to ensure compliance with specified limits, clearly defined responsibilities, the monitoring of indicators and predictive alerts, and the use of advanced risk assessment methodologies.

Types of risk addressed by control systems

Credit risk

Credit risk is the possibility of losses arising as a result of borrowers failing to meet their obligations or a loss in value due simply to a deterioration in borrower quality.

Market risk

Market risk includes the following risks:

- Discretionary risk: Discretionary risk is the possibility of losses in the value of investments due to fluctuating market risk factors (equity prices, interest rates, exchange rates, implied volatilities, correlations, etc.).

- Structural risk: This risk arises from the ongoing customer-based commercial banking and corporate finance businesses. Management of structural risk seeks to ensure stability at the margin by maintaining appropriate levels of liquidity and capital strength. Structural risk can be broken down into interest rate risk and liquidity risk

-- Interest rate risk is caused by changes in the interest rates, as shown by the position or slope of yield curves, that provide benchmarks for asset, liability and off balance sheet positions. Gaps or mismatches arise between these items because of differences in repricing and maturity dates so that rate changes affect them at different times, which in turn affects the robustness and stability of results.

-- Liquidity risk can be defined as the possibility of defaulting on debts, even if only on a temporary basis, due to a lack of liquid assets or an inability to access the markets to refinance those debts at a reasonable cost.

Operational risk

Operational risk is the risk of loss resulting from inadequate or failed internal processes, people and systems or from unforeseen external events. This includes legal risk.

Reputational risk

Reputational risk arises from the perception that our stakeholder groups (customers, suppliers, government agencies and the communities in which we operate) have of the Bank. These include legal, economic, financial, ethical, social and environmental aspects, among others.

The perception by stakeholders can be affected by:

- Non-compliance with legislation, regulations, self-imposed rules and codes of conduct applicable to the banking business.
- A lack of concern for the welfare of the community in which the Group operates.
- Conduct falling below generally accepted ethical standards.

Risk control systems

The Group has a number of risk control systems in place which are appropriate to the commercial banking businesses in which it operates and the type of risk that it seeks to undertake.

These control systems are embodied in procedures for the approval, monitoring, mitigation or recovery of risks of the types described above, and are themselves subject to supervision.

One part of the control system is risk assessment based on the use of advanced measurement techniques. The Basel Committee on Banking Supervision has been working on a new capital adequacy regulatory framework for financial institutions known as Basel II, a fundamental principle of which is that a bank's regulatory capital requirements should be more closely related to risks actually incurred, based on previously validated parameters and internal estimates.

Being fully aware that having an advanced methodology ensures that risks incurred can be reliably assessed and actively managed, Banco Sabadell is following the guidelines provided by the new banking regulations in developing the components required to complete its risk measurement systems.

On the basis of the measures of risk provided by these new methodologies, Banco Sabadell has developed a consolidated risk measurement model with a common unit of measurement, economic capital, the purpose of which is to determine the capital requirement on the basis of internal parameters appropriate to ensure a specified level of solvency. Evaluating risk in terms of an assigned capital requirement means that risk can be related to return, from individual customer up to business unit level. Banco Sabadell has developed an analytical "risk-adjusted return on capital" (RaRoC) system which provides this assessment and incorporates it within the transaction pricing process.

In the management of credit risk, the last few years have seen the implementation of advanced measurement models based on internal data, tailored to particular counterparty categories and segments (businesses, retailers, individuals, property developers and development projects, project finance, structured financing, financial institutions and countries), thus allowing transactions to be differentiated on the basis of risk and assessments to be made of the probability of default or the degree of severity in the event of default actually occurring.

All these advances have been possible thanks to the efforts of the last few years which testify to the importance that the Group attaches to new risk management techniques, an aspect which is not unrelated to performance.

The control systems in use for each type of risk are described in the following sub-paragraphs.

Credit risk

Generally speaking, the management and control systems that have been put in place to assess, mitigate or reduce credit risk are based on the procedures which are described in detail below, and on prudent policies to ensure diversification and to reduce concentrations in particular counterparties and in the acceptance of guarantees.

Approval, monitoring and recovery

To maximize the opportunities for doing business with customers and to guarantee an appropriate degree of security, responsibility for approval and monitoring of risk is shared between the relationship manager and the risk analyst, who by maintaining effective communication are able to obtain a comprehensive view of the circumstances of each customer.

The relationship manager monitors the business aspect through direct contact with the customer and by handling his day-to-day banking, while the risk analyst takes a more system-based approach involving the use of alerts.

The Board of Directors delegates powers and discretion to the Risk Control Committee, which is then able to sub-delegate authority at each level. The implementation of a control of attributions in the admission supports allows the delegation fixed for each level to be based on the expected loss calculated for each of the business operations presented.

Electronic processing of corporate credit applications has streamlined the decision-making process and significantly reduced response times to customers as well as increasing efficiency and reducing management and administrative costs.

By analysing indicators and early warning alerts, and by conducting regular credit rating reviews, the quality of a risk can be constantly monitored in an integrated way.

The establishment of effective processes for managing existing risk exposures also benefits the process of managing past due accounts. The early identification of risks of probable default allows proactive measures to be taken, with risks being transferred to recovery specialists who are best equipped to determine the most suitable type of recovery procedure in each case.

Credit rating

The credit risk exposures to corporate customers have been assigned a rating based on an internal estimate of the probability of default. Composed of factors that are predictors of the probability of default within one year, the system is designed for different market segments. The rating model is revised each year on the basis of an analysis of actual default data.

Each rating score is assigned an anticipated default rate which allows consistent comparisons to be made across segments and with the ratings of independent rating agencies, according to a master scale.

Credit scoring

For credit risk exposures to individuals, scoring systems are used. These are based on the quantitative modelling of historic data that identify key predictive factors. Two types of scoring are used:

- • Behavioural scoring, in which the system produces a maximum exposure figure which is apportioned among different risk products. This classification serves as the basis for monitoring behaviour, while it is also used for approving new products and even for pre-approvals.

- Application scoring, which is used to evaluate applications for personal and mortgage loans and credit cards. When all transaction data have been entered, the system generates a result based on estimates of borrowing capacity, financial position and the quality of any collateral or other security.

Banco Sabadell's policy is to complete the development of its own credit risk assessment tools in the course of the next few years.

Country risk

This is the risk associated with the debts of a country analysed as a class on the basis of factors other than credit risk. It manifests itself when a borrower is unable to meet his foreign currency liabilities to external creditors because the country will not allow access to, or transfers to be made in, that currency, or where a recovery action against the borrower would fail for jurisdictional reasons.

An overall exposure limit is set for each country, which applies across the whole Group. These limits are approved by the Risk Control Committee and are constantly monitored to ensure that any deterioration in the political, economic or social situation in a country can be foreseen and acted upon in good time. Both for deciding limits and for subsequent follow-up, the rating of each country is used as a support tool.

Credit risk due to market operations

Credit risk due to market trading operations, or counterparty risk, is exposure to other financial institutions arising from financial dealings which may be spot transactions, where the amount of the risk is comparable to the nominal amount of the transaction, or transactions in derivative products not traded on organized markets, where in the great majority of cases the transaction amount is below the notional value.

Banco Sabadell has developed a system for the assessment of counterparty risk which generates results that reflect the potential future exposure that could arise from these different positions; these are monitored each day on an integrated basis and reports on these exposures and on compliance with approved limits are sent to the risk control units or functions.

To mitigate exposure to counterparty risk, Banco Sabadell maintains a solid base of CSA (Credit Support Annex) contracts and continues to handle new contracts with counterparties exposed to greater risk in derivatives. The provision of guarantees significantly reduces the risk incurred with these counterparties.

Market risk

Discretionary risk

Discretionary risk is measured by the VaR (Value at Risk) method, which allows exposures arising on different types of financial market transaction to be analysed in the same way. The VaR provides an estimate of the anticipated potential maximum loss on a position that would result from an adverse, but normal, movement in any of the identified parameters that affect market risk. This estimate is expressed in money terms and is calculated at a specified date, to a specified confidence level and for a specified time horizon. The estimate takes account of different levels of market risk factors.

Market risk is monitored on a daily basis, calculating VaR, gap and sensitivity levels, and reports on current risk levels and on compliance with the limits assigned to each unit are sent to the risk control bodies. This makes it possible to observe changes in exposure levels resulting from changes in financial product prices and volatilities.

Risk control of this kind is supplemented by specific simulation exercises and extreme market scenarios (stress testing). The reliability of the VaR methodology is validated by back testing techniques which are used to verify that the VaR estimates are within a specified confidence level.

Structural risk

a) Interest rate risk

The management of interest rate risk focuses on overall financial exposure for the Group as a whole and involves proposing alternative business or hedging strategies to allow business results to be achieved that are appropriate to market conditions and the balance sheet position.

Generally speaking, techniques to mitigate interest rate risk are based on the use of fixed interest instruments and financial derivatives as interest rate hedges.

A number of methodologies are used to measure interest rate risk. These include interest rate gap analysis which measures the sensitivity of net interest income to changes in interest rates over a one-year horizon. By this technique, volumes of asset and liability items are grouped according to their maturity date (for fixed rate instruments) or their re-pricing date (for floating rate instruments). This analysis provides an estimate of the effect that a change in interest rates will have on net interest income, assuming that all rates change by the same amount and in a sustained way.

Gap analysis is supplemented by a simulation technique that measures the effects of different interest rate movements on different maturities, that is, changes in the slope of the yield curve. These simulation techniques assign a probability to each scenario so as to arrive at a more precise estimate of the effect that interest rate movements might have.

Another approach is to measure the sensitivity of net asset values to changes in interest rates by duration gap analysis. This measures the effect of interest rate changes over a longer time horizon.

b) Liquidity risk

Liquidity risk may be caused by external factors such as a financial market downturn or a systemic crisis or reputational risk issues, or internally, by an excessive concentration of maturing liabilities.

Banco Sabadell keeps a close watch on the day-to-day evolution of its liquid asset position and holds a diversified portfolio of such assets. It also carries out yearly projections to anticipate future needs.

It uses liquidity gap analysis to manage foreseeable differences between cash inflows and outflows over a medium-term horizon. In addition, systematic checks are made to verify that the Group's ability to raise funds on the capital markets is sufficient to satisfy its requirements in the medium and long term.

Liquidity risk is mitigated by a clear policy of using the different markets to diversify its sources of funds, mainly deposits through the Group's commercial business and programmes of medium-term debt or securitization issues.

The Banco Sabadell Group has in place a number of programmes to raise finance on the long and medium term capital markets, and short term commercial paper issue programmes to ensure the diversification of its sources of funds. The Group is an issuer of mortgage bonds and is active in developing new sources of finance such as asset-backed securities, which provide a further instrument for the management of liquidity risk.

In addition, the Bank carries out regular liquidity gap analyses in order to assess the cash inflows and outflows and their impact on the position under different scenarios. Within this framework, it has a contingency plan for dealing with any unexpected situations that might produce an immediate need for funds. This plan, which is regularly updated, identifies the Bank's assets that can be liquidated in the short-term and sets out the courses of action in the event of having to obtain additional liquidity.

Operational risk

Operational risk arises from the risk of loss resulting from inadequate or failed internal processes, people and systems or from unforeseen external events.

The effective management of operational risk is decentralised in the different process managers distributed throughout the organisation. All these processes are identified on the corporate processes map, which facilitates the integration of information according to the organisational structure. The Group has a central unit specialising in operational risk management, and its principal functions are to coordinate, supervise and promote the identification, evaluation and management of the risks by the process managers, on the basis of the management model adopted.

The Board of Directors and senior executives are directly and effectively involved in the management of this risk, by approving and implementing the management framework proposed by the Operational Risk Committee, composed of senior executives in the Company's different areas of operation, thus ensuring that audits are carried out regularly on the application of the management framework and the reliability of the information reported, as well as internal validation checks on the operational risk model.

The management of operational risk is based on two lines of action:

- The first is based on detection, monitoring and active management through the use of key risk indicators leading to the establishment of alerts for increases in exposure, identification of the causes thereof, and measurement of the effectiveness of controls and improvements.

This is supplemented by analysis of the processes, identification of related risks, qualitative evaluation of these and of the associated controls, all carried out jointly by the process managers and the central operational risk unit. The result is an evaluation that indicates the exposure to future risk and enables the Bank to anticipate trends and to plan targeted mitigating action.

In subcontracted processes, the exposure to operational risk is analysed in respect of service agreements, operational and financial solvency of businesses and ease of replacement due to interruption of the service.

At the same time we check that the processes identified as highly critical in the face of a service failure have specific business continuation plans defined and in place.

On the risks identified, an estimate is made of the reputational risk that could arise from any of them.

- The second line of action is based on experience. It consists in collecting in a database all the losses of the Company, so as to provide information on the operational risks incurred per line of business and the reasons for them, in order to take action to minimise such risks.

Banco Sabadell has set up a historical database of actual losses from operational risk. This is integrated into and reconciled with the accounts and is continually updated as information is received on losses and also on recoveries, whether due to our own recovery procedures or to insurance cover.

Reputational risk

Reputational risk arises from the perception that our stakeholder groups (customers, suppliers, government agencies and the communities in which we operate) have of the Bank.

Controls for reputational risk have been established at a number of levels in three main areas which are seen as critical by the Group:

(i) Measures to prevent our branch network being used for money-laundering operations originating from criminal or terrorist-financing activities:

- A dedicated unit specializing in the detection, analysis and tracking of suspicious transactions.
- An automatic process for tracking payments on a massive scale. This sends out alerts which are then analysed by the specialist unit.
- The Group's internal rules and procedures.
- A system of continuous staff training and the integration of reputational issues into the Group's internal rules and procedures.

(ii) Measures to ensure compliance with the various regulatory requirements that apply to the Group's business in all countries where it operates, including its operations in the Spanish market:

- The Compliance, Corporate Social Responsibility and Corporate Governance Department is involved in all new product development processes with a view to ensuring that from the outset products comply with regulatory requirements, particularly those concerning the protection of investors (MiFID), transparency and protection of customers.
- The Group has set up a team of Compliance Reporting Officers who are responsible for verifying that operations conform to the regulations applicable to specific areas of business and who report to the Compliance Department on a regular basis.

(iii) Measures to verify compliance with the principles laid down in our Code of Conduct and to encourage higher standards of compliance by adopting guidelines and procedures which can be integrated into our day-to-day working practices. Stock market dealing by employees, Directors and others bound by the Code is subject to systematic disclosure requirements and monitoring by the Compliance, Corporate Social Responsibility and Corporate Governance Department. Other aspects of the Code of Conduct, control of market abuse and the Group's adjustment to MiFID requirements are monitored by the Department by such means as the Corporate Ethics Committee considers are necessary to ensure compliance.

RISK MANAGEMENT RESPONSIBILITIES

Description of functions

The Board of Directors is responsible for laying down general guidelines as to how the risk management and control function is to be distributed organizationally and for establishing the broad risk management strategy.

Within the Board itself, three committees are involved in the management and control of risk:

The Executive Committee is responsible for coordinating management of the Bank at executive level and for adopting resolutions and decisions within the authority delegated to it by the Board of Directors. All decisions taken at meetings of the Committee are reported to the Board.

The Risk Control Committee, which (i) determines overall levels of risk for each country, business sector and risk category and makes appropriate recommendations to the full Board; (ii) establishes and makes recommendations to the full Board on maximum levels of risk for operations with individual lending institutions and customers, and for setting maximum exposures in portfolios or individual investments in government or public sector securities, shares, bonds, options, swaps and generally any instrument or security involving a risk of default or an investment, interest rate or liquidity risk for the group; (iii) establishes and recommends to the full Board annual limits for investment in the property market and the criteria and volumes to be applied for different types of investment within this market; (iv) decides and makes recommendations to the full Board on such delegations of authority as it may consider expedient for the approval and acceptance of individual risks within the limits set out above; (v) decides on individual risks which only the Risk Control Committee itself can approve by virtue of the authority vested in it under previous sub-paragraphs; (vi) monitors and controls the correct application of the delegated responsibilities under section (iv) above; (vii) reports to the full Board every month on all transactions approved and carried out during the previous month, and any divergences or anomalies observed and any corrective action taken; (viii) reports to the full Board each quarter on levels of risk exposure, investments undertaken and the performance of those investments, and on any possible impact of changes in rates of interest on group revenue, and the extent to which such risks are consistent with the VaR levels approved by the Board; ix) submits to the Board, for its approval, any variation of more than 10% and 20% in excess of the limits authorized under (i) and (ii) above respectively; and x) reports to the Nomination and Remuneration Committee on whether the remuneration systems for employees are consistent with the Bank's risk exposure, capital and liquidity.

The Audit and Control Committee, which (i) reports to the General Meeting on matters raised by shareholders within its area of responsibility; (ii) makes recommendations to the Board, for submission to the General Meeting, regarding the appointment of external auditors, agreeing their terms of engagement, their professional remit and, where appropriate, the termination or non-renewal of their appointment; reviews performance of the auditing agreement and ensures that the auditor's opinion on the annual accounts and the main contents of the Auditor's Report are set out in a clear and precise way. (iii) reports on the annual accounts and the quarterly and half-yearly financial statements and prospectuses required to be filed with supervisory or regulatory authorities, ensuring that legal requirements are complied with, that generally accepted accounting principles are properly applied, and reporting on any proposed changes to those principles. (iv) supervises the internal audit function and reviews the appointment and replacement of those with internal audit responsibilities; (v) keeps up to date with the process of financial reporting and the systems of internal control within the Company; (vi) maintains contact with the external Auditors to receive information on any issues that could threaten their independence or otherwise have a bearing on the auditing process, and on any other reports concerned with the auditing of accounts or required by legislation or by the regulations governing the auditing profession; (vii) reports on all matters referred to it by the Board of Directors within its area of responsibility; and (viii) has all other responsibilities assigned to it by law or by the Articles of Association and any regulations made thereunder and any deriving from general rules on corporate governance.

The executive functions involved in the process of risk management and control are as follows:

- Credit Operations Committee meetings are held every week and the committee has the following functions: (i) to approve credit operations in accordance with the delegated powers established, (ii) to monitor the use of approved powers and to pass to the Risk Control Committee any proposed modifications considered appropriate, (iii) to report every month to the Risk Control Committee on operations approved and carried out in the previous month, for passing to the Board of Directors, (iv) to monitor the evolution of late payments on a global level, giving details of the most relevant cases and situations, and (v) to approve the criteria for granting and monitoring credit risk for adequate risk handling, in the terms of the policies approved by the Risk Control Committee.

- Financial Department: As part of the planning and budgeting process, the Department draws up proposals for risk structures and overall limits, and for allocations of capital in line with the set strategy; provides information to the various decision-making and risk management functions or units regarding overall risk exposures and monitors the implications; sees that the risk variable is taken into account in all decisions; and oversees specific risk management models, ensuring that these approaches are in line with generally accepted principles and methodologies, particularly so far as the supervisory authorities are concerned.

- Risk Department: The department is responsible for establishing risk management guidelines, methodologies and strategies. It defines and establishes the risk management approach, develops advanced internal measurement systems on the basis of supervisory requirements for the quantification and differentiation of risk, and actively promotes the operational use of these systems. It lays down procedures to ensure optimum performance by the credit function. It manages and integrates the various risk exposures according to the authority limits assigned to each level, through a selective approval of risk in such a way as to ensure risk quality, while fostering growth and maximizing profitability.

- Assets and Liabilities Committee: The Committee draws up standards to ensure effective management of the Group's structural balance sheet risk acquired in the course of business and taking into account market risk. It oversees interest rate, exchange rate and liquidity risk, and proposes alternative business or hedging strategies to ensure that business objectives will be achieved having regard to market conditions and balance sheet considerations.

- Operational Risk Committee: The Committee defines the strategies and framework for the management of operational risk and establishes the operating priorities for this based on assessment of the risk exposure of the different business and corporate departments.

- Compliance, Corporate Social Responsibility and Corporate Governance Department: It oversees compliance with the legal requirements, operating procedures and codes of conduct that govern the Group's activities, including procedures to combat money laundering and the financing of terrorist groups, market abuse and investor protection (MiFID) by establishing alert procedures and systems.

- Internal Control Unit: unit headed by the Comptroller General, it oversees compliance with laws on the prevention of money laundering and combating and blocking the financing of terrorism within the Group, on which all the companies in the Group that are subject to these laws and the areas of special risk are represented.

- Corporate Ethics Committee: headed by the Comptroller General, it is the body responsible for the control and monitoring of compliance within the Group with rules of conduct in matters relating to the stock market and with the general code of conduct.

- Internal Audit Department: Reports directly to the Audit and Control Committee, oversees effective implementation of management policies and procedures, and assesses the appropriateness and effectiveness of management and control activities in each functional and executive unit.

With regard to the Group-wide management of risk, a stable structure of management and responsibility has been set up incorporating a system of controls in which primary responsibility for control is assigned to line managers as part of their basic managerial functions: planning, implementation, control and correction of deviations.

Internal Audit thus has the task of acting as a guarantor of the proper functioning of the management and control structure and of the system itself, and for evaluating any divergences in risk measurement terms.

This new conception of auditing is, in fact, entirely consistent with the Basel II Accord, under which the Committee is responsible for supervising the adequacy and effectiveness of controls set up for different areas of responsibility, and for acting as internal consultants on the systematic identification of risk, risk control and the establishment of management methodologies and systems.

In line with this approach, Internal Audit has drawn up programmes of work in four main areas:

. Control audits. The purpose of these is to verify, for a particular area of operations, that the various risks associated with that area have been identified, assessed and controlled by the managers responsible, and that controls are of the approved type and are being implemented.

. Management audits. These are to ensure that the indicators included in each unit's scorecard or "instrument panel" are properly analysed, and to take corrective action in the event of any deviation from target levels.

. Verification audits. These have the aim of validating the information used as a basis for drawing up quality indicators, so as to ensure that indicators are a fair reflection of reality.

. Compliance audits. These ensure that all internal Group activities are in accordance with legal and regulatory requirements and ethical standards that apply at any given moment in time.

The Deputy Secretary to the Board of Directors and Comptroller General is responsible for managing the work of Internal Audit and of Compliance, Corporate Social Responsibility and Corporate Governance in such a way as to ensure that they fulfil their mission, which is to see that the control system and risk management policies are appropriate and will at all times facilitate achievement of the Group's aims.

D.4. Identify and describe the processes in place for ensuring compliance with the regulatory requirements that apply to the Company and/or the group.

One of the core aspects of the Banco Sabadell Group's policy, and the basis of its organisational philosophy, is rigorous compliance with all items of legislation. The achievement of business goals must be compatible at all times with compliance with the law.

The direct consequences of infringement of legislation and loss of image in the eyes of the regulator, the market, employees, customers and the media are making it increasingly necessary and important to manage compliance risk, this being understood as the risk of legal or administrative penalties, significant financial loss or damage to reputation through failure to comply with laws, regulations, internal rules and codes of conduct applicable to the banking business. Aware of this, the Group has a compliance unit with the mission to promote and ensure the highest levels of compliance and ethics in the Group, managing compliance risk in order to minimise the possibility of any such risk materialising and to ensure that any defaults are identified, reported and resolved as quickly as possible. In order to carry out this mission, the Group has opted for a compliance model centralised in the parent company with decentralised functions in the Spanish and foreign subsidiaries and overseas offices. It is a flexible, risk-focused approach that adapts easily to the Group's strategy at any given time and makes use of synergies, particularly in those aspects with complex global impacts that require technological developments and where the main challenge is the standardisation of levels of compliance control in the Group by establishing compulsory minimum standards irrespective of the field of business or the country in which the Group is operating.

This model is driven by two main elements:

- A robust central compliance unit that provides services to the whole Group and is moving from a model aimed at management of specific risks towards a model of global compliance risk management. In this model, the core processes are distribution and controlled implementation of new legislation applicable to the Group, and risk focused control of correct compliance with legislation already in force. This risk-focused methodology classifies regulations according to the associated compliance and reputational risks and establishes the level of rigor and the control programme to be executed by the central compliance unit in each case. Combating money laundering and the financing of terrorism, market abuse, the internal rules of conduct and MiFID, for example, are classified as high risk and therefore require direct integrated control by the Compliance Unit. With respect to other regulations, the programme will be articulated through a combination of direct controls by sampling and indirect controls through monitoring the indicators of each risk.
- a system of subordination to the parent company by the compliance officers in each of the subsidiaries and overseas offices (functionally subordinate to the central compliance unit and hierarchically subordinate to the manager of the subsidiary/overseas office), who report regularly to the central unit and ensure compliance with legislation in all the countries and fields of business in which they operate.

The Group employs a specific methodology to advance its progress with all aspects of compliance, through four main tools:

- Technology for integrating compliance in the Group's operating processes and obtaining maximum levels of implementation with a high degree of conformity to applicable legislation.
- Ongoing training and information for the persons involved, with an annual training plan adapted to the requirements of any given moment and any given group, in order to convey, emphasise and clarify concepts in the most sensitive areas or those where there is a special risk.
- Clear procedures, which are of vital importance so that the persons involved know how to act in any given circumstances and for particular queries or special cases.
- Efficient channels of communication.

Global management of Compliance Risk

The Banco Sabadell Group is committed to transparency and to strict compliance with all legislation applicable to the Group; the Compliance Department, through its core processes, is responsible for overseeing the Group's observance of such regulations. It is in these core processes that the strategy for action centralised in the parent company and decentralised in the subsidiaries and overseas offices is implemented.

- i) controls for the implementation of new regulations and execution of the annual control plan, analysis of the reputational risk of new products and new projects, review and control of advertising in the principal campaigns, and the fees/charges applied by the Group to its operations, are all centralised in the parent company.
- ii) through high-level interlocutors and Compliance Reporting Officers, the level of control and therefore the adherence to applicable regulations are standardised throughout the group in the subsidiaries and overseas offices.

This risk-focused methodology for managing compliance risk is called the Risk Focus Approach (RFA), and it classifies regulations according to the associated compliance and reputational risks and establishes the level of rigor and the control programme to be executed by the central compliance unit in each case.

As regards control infrastructure, the Group has:

- . Internal operating procedures for each of the areas that form part of this central core.
- . A Commercial Communication Policy that adopts the principles and criteria governing the Group's commercial communication, in order to avoid the legal and reputational risks deriving from advertising activities. Also, in order to reinforce its commitment to lawful, fair, accurate, clear, transparent advertising, the Group has joined the Association for Self-Regulation in Commercial Communication (Autocontrol).

- . A mechanised system of control through which new regulations are sent to addressees, who after analysing their impact must inform the system of the results and conclusions, as well as plans of action for implementing the regulations within the required time.
- . Risk indicators for the continuous monitoring of risks associated with matters classified as high-risk on account of their potential reputational impact, which are therefore controlled directly by the Compliance Department.
- . An automated system for drawing up the annual Compliance Review programme on the basis of defined risks/controls. This system also has a tool that allows ongoing monitoring of each of the risks reviewed.

Combating money-laundering and the financing of terrorism

The Banco Sabadell Group has a clearly-defined policy and a rigorous identification, acceptance and information procedure with respect to its customers in order to avoid the Bank being used for activities related to money-laundering or the financing of terrorism.

Headed by the Comptroller General, the Internal Control and Communication Unit oversees compliance with the laws on combating money laundering and the financing of terrorism within the Group, on which all the companies in the Group subject to these laws and the Bank's areas of special risk are represented.

For its control infrastructure, the Bank has:

- . A set of rules for combating money laundering as well as specific rules for each subsidiary that is subject to Spanish law and for the subsidiaries and offices overseas. These rules are adjusted to their specific business and to local legislation, although they must always comply with the minimum standards of the Group.
- . Group rules for combating the financing of terrorism.
- . A customer information questionnaire (KYC - Know Your Customer) for obtaining identification particulars of the customer and details of its expected banking activities.
- . A policy for the acceptance of customers with different levels of authorisation according to the associated money-laundering risk.
- . A specific policy and procedures for correspondent banks in the matter of combating money laundering and the financing of terrorism in accordance with specific rules in the reinforced due diligence.
- . Reinforced due diligence procedures for special risk groups.
- . An intelligent system for tracking suspicious operations that triggers alerts based on defined parameters, which are handled and analysed and if necessary reported to SEPBLAC, the Spanish anti-money laundering authority.
- . A mechanised system of control that detects possible coincidences with persons linked to terrorist activities and with persons holding public office and their relatives and associates. These coincidences are dealt with immediately, and if necessary are reported to the regulator.
- . A training policy at Group level covering all employees, which sets out the various lines of action, from compulsory induction training for all persons joining the Group to an annual training programme with face-to-face or distance courses for all employees, and specific courses for certain risk groups and subsidiaries. In addition, regular specialised newsletters are sent out containing articles and news of interest, so that employees – particularly those in contact with customers – are kept up to date with new practices.
- . An annual report drawn up by an external expert assessing the procedures and control systems in place.

Market Abuse and Investor Protection (MiFID)

The Banco Sabadell Group is committed to safeguarding the integrity of the markets since it provides a full range of services related to stock market operations and the Bank is also listed on the Spanish stock exchanges. In accordance with applicable legislation, the Group undertakes to ensure market transparency, correct market pricing and investor protection by establishing procedures, developing IT applications for management and control, and providing training courses for employees.

The Corporate Ethics Committee, chaired by the Comptroller General, is responsible for controlling and monitoring compliance in the Group with the stock market code of conduct and general code of conduct. The Compliance Department is the operating arm of this Committee, and acts with its express authority in the direct management and control of associated compliance risks.

The Group has in place:

. Internal Rules of Conduct for matters relating to the stock market, approved by the Board of Directors, which provide the relevant employees with details of how to apply the rules for dealing on the stock market. The Rules cover concepts such as insider information, price manipulation, separate areas and conflicts of interest, laying down general directives on how to proceed and the channels of communication to use.

. Internal rules for the handling of insider information in the Banco Sabadell Group and rules for reporting suspicious operations.

. A conflicts of interest policy which identifies the different types of conflict that can arise and the procedure for the prevention, handling and reporting of these.

. MiFID policies: policies for the execution and handling of orders, for outsourcing, and for safekeeping of financial instruments.

Resolution Three

To approve a supplement to the 2009 dividend paid to shareholders of Banco de Sabadell, S.A., consisting of the distribution in kind of part of the share premium reserve in the form of shares in the capital of the Company from its treasury shares.

The distribution shall be equivalent to €0.08 gross for each of the shares entitled to receive it, which means that a payment in kind shall be made from the distributable share premium reserve amounting to a maximum total of €96,000,000.

For the purposes of this resolution, the reference value of each share to be distributed shall be the average weighted price of the share in the Spanish Intermarket Trading System (SIBE) during the five trading sessions prior to the date of the General Meeting of Shareholders, i.e. 25 March 2010 (the 'Reference Value').

The number of shares to be distributed to each shareholder shall be determined as €0.08 multiplied by the total number of shares held by the shareholder, divided by the Reference Value and rounded down to the nearest whole number; any amount exceeding the multiple as a result of such rounding down shall be paid in cash to each shareholder ('Surplus').

The shares shall be allotted on 23 April 2010 using the systems and mechanisms established by IBERCLEAR, and consequently the right to receive the distribution in kind shall accrue to those who at the close of the markets on 15 April 2010 appear as shareholders of Banco de Sabadell, S.A. in the books of the members of IBERCLEAR.

Banco de Sabadell, S.A., acting as agent bank, shall coordinate with IBERCLEAR and its members the necessary steps and operations for implementing the distribution in kind, all in accordance with the procedures and terms provided for in this resolution and any others decided by the Board of Directors of Banco de Sabadell, S.A.

The shares delivered and the surplus paid in cash refer to the amount of the gross payment, and therefore all withholding tax payable by law shall be to the account of the shareholders. Similarly, the shareholders shall be liable for any commission or expenses that may be charged under applicable legislation by the members of IBERCLEAR or the depositories in connection with the distribution. Nevertheless, Banco de Sabadell, S.A. shall not charge any commission to shareholders whose shares are deposited with the Banco Sabadell Group and who are beneficiaries of this operation....

The variable remuneration shall be paid in the form of shares in the Company.

The individualised allotment shall be made merely for computational purposes and shall not imply the acquisition by the beneficiary of the status of shareholder or of any other rights attaching to such status. The options shall be assigned intuitu personae and consequently they shall be non-transferable, save in the special circumstances laid down in the general conditions of the Scheme to be approved by the Board of Directors of the Company.

The Chairman of the Board of Directors shall be entitled to 2,600,000 share options, and the Managing Director of the Company shall be entitled to 2,000,000 share options.

e) Value of the shares to be taken as a reference point: In order to calculate the variable remuneration under the Scheme, the initial value of the shares in Banco de Sabadell, S.A. shall be taken as their average weighted listed price over the last thirty (30) trading sessions before 26 March 2010. For new beneficiaries who join the Scheme on the terms to be laid down, the initial value shall be taken as the average weighted listed price of the last thirty (30) trading sessions prior to the date of joining the Scheme. The final value shall be taken as the average weighted listed price of the Company's shares over the last thirty (30) trading sessions prior to the final date of computation of the revaluation.

f) Duration of the Scheme: The Scheme shall begin on 26 March 2010 and shall have a maximum duration of three years and three months. F – DEGREE OF ADHERENCE TO RECOMMENDATIONS ON CORPORATE GOVERNANCE

Indicate the degree of compliance by the Company with the recommendations on corporate governance in the Unified Good Governance Code. If none of the recommendations has been complied with, specify the recommendations, guidelines, practices or criteria that are applied by the Company.

1. The Articles of Association of listed companies should not limit the maximum number of votes that may be cast by a single shareholder or contain other restrictions that make it difficult to obtain control of the company by purchasing its shares on the stock market.

See sections: A.9, B.1.22, B.1.23 and E.1, E.2

Explain

Art. 40 of the Articles of Association establishes a limit of 10% of votes to be cast at General Meetings, unless the Bank Deposit Guarantee Fund acquires a holding of more than 10%. These limitations were in place when the Company was floated and were approved by shareholders representing at least 75% of the voting rights.

2. When the parent company and a subsidiary company are listed, both should define publicly and precisely:

- a) The respective fields of business and any business relations between them, as well as those between the subsidiary and the other companies in the Group;
- b) The mechanisms for settling any conflicts of interest that might arise.

See sections: C.4 and C.7

Not applicable

3. Although not expressly required by company legislation, operations involving any structural modification of the Company should be submitted to the General Meeting for approval, in particular the following operations:

- a) The conversion of listed companies into holding companies by the “subsidiarisation” or transfer to dependent companies of essential activities hitherto carried on by the Company itself, even when the Company maintains full control of them;
- b) The acquisition or disposal of essential operating assets when this involves an effective change in the corporate objects;
- c) Operations having an effect equivalent to that of winding up the Company.

Complies

4. The detailed proposals for resolutions to be passed by the General Meeting, including the information referred to in recommendation 28, should be made public at the time of publishing the notice of the General Meeting.

Complies

5. Those matters that are substantially independent of each other should be voted on separately at the General Meeting so that shareholders may exercise their voting preferences separately. This rule should be applied in particular to:

- a) The appointment or ratification of Directors, which should be voted on individually;
- b) In the case of amendments to the Articles of Association, individual articles or a group of articles that are substantially independent of each other.

See section: E.8

Complies

6. Companies should allow votes to be split so that financial intermediaries that are recognised as shareholders but act on behalf of different clients may cast their votes in accordance with their clients' instructions.

See section: E.4

Complies

7. The Board should perform its duties with a single purpose and independence of judgement, dispense the same treatment to all shareholders and be guided by the interests of the Company, this being understood as maximising the economic value of the business on a sustained basis.

It should also ensure that in its relations with stakeholders the Company abides by the laws and regulations; performs its obligations and contracts in good faith; respects the customs and practices of the sectors and territories in which it operates; and observes any additional principles of social responsibility that it has voluntarily accepted.

Complies

8. The Board is responsible, as its core mission, for approving the strategy of the Company and the necessary organisation for implementing it, and for ensuring that the management achieves the targets set and respects the corporate objects and interests of the Company. To this end, the full Board has the power to approve:

a) The Company's general policies and strategies, and in particular:

- i) The strategic or business plan, management targets and annual budget;
- ii) Investment and financing policy;
- iii) The structure of the group;
- iv) The corporate governance policy;
- v) The corporate social responsibility policy;
- vi) The policy on remuneration and assessment of the performance of senior executives;
- vii) The risk control and management policy and the regular monitoring of internal information and control systems;
- viii) The policy on dividends and purchases of own shares, especially the limits thereon.

See sections: B.1.10, B.1.13, B.1.14 and D.3

b) The following decisions:

i) Appointment and removal of senior executives, and their compensation clauses, on the Chief Executive's recommendation

See section: B.1.14

ii) Directors' remuneration and, for Executive Directors, additional remuneration for their executive duties and other terms to be respected in their contracts.

See section: B.1.14

iii) Any financial information that the Company, as a listed company, is obliged to publish regularly.

iv) Investments and operations of all kinds that because of their size or special features are of a strategic nature, unless the General Meeting is responsible for approving them;

v) The issue or acquisition of shares in special purpose companies or companies resident in countries or territories classified as tax havens, and any other transactions or operations of a similar nature that because of their complexity could impair the Group's transparency.

c) Operations between the Company and its Directors, significant shareholders or shareholders represented on the Board or with persons related to them ("transactions with related parties").

Authorisation by the Board shall not, however, be considered necessary in transactions with related parties that meet all of the following three conditions:

1. They must be carried out under contracts with standardised terms that are applied en masse to a number of clients;
2. They must be carried out at prices that are applied in general by anyone acting as a supplier of the goods or services in question;
3. The amount must not exceed 1% of the Company's annual earnings.

It is recommended that the Board should approve transactions with related parties on the recommendation of the Audit Committee or any other body asked to review them; and that the Directors affected, in addition to not voting or appointing proxies to do so, should leave the meeting room while the Board deliberates and votes on the transaction.

It is recommended that these powers attributed to the Board should not be delegated, save for those set out in sections b) and c), which may be exercised in emergencies by the Delegated Committee and subsequently ratified by the full Board.

See sections: C.1 and C.6

Complies

9. The Board should be of the necessary size to function in an efficient, participatory manner, and it is therefore recommended that it have no less than five and no more than fifteen members.

See section: B.1.1

Complies

10. The Independent and Proprietary Non-Executive Directors should constitute an ample majority on the Board and the number of Executive Directors should be kept to the essential minimum, taking into account the complexity of the corporate group and the holdings by the Executive Directors in the capital of the Company.

See sections: A.2, A.3, B.1.3 and B.1.14

Complies

11. If there is any Non-executive Director who cannot be considered either proprietary or independent, the Company should explain this circumstance and his links with the Company, its senior executives or its shareholders.

See section: B.1.3

Complies

12. Among the Non-executive Directors, the proportion between the number of Proprietary Directors and Independent Directors should reflect the proportion between the capital of the Company represented by the Proprietary Directors and the rest of the capital.

This strict proportionality may be relaxed, so that the weight of the Proprietary Directors is greater than the number that would correspond to the total percentage of capital represented by them:

1. In companies with high capitalisation in which there are few or no shareholdings that can be considered by law as significant, but where there are shareholders owning packets of shares with a high absolute value.
2. In the case of companies in which there are a large number of shareholders represented on the Board who have no links with each other.

See sections: B.1.3, A.2 and A.3

Complies

13. The number of Independent Directors should represent at least one-third of the total number of Directors.

See section: B.1.3

Complies

14. The nature of each Director should be explained by the Board to the General Meeting that is to appoint him or ratify his appointment, and should be confirmed or reviewed each year in the Annual Report on Corporate Governance, after verification by the Nomination Committee. The Report should also state the reasons why Proprietary Directors have been appointed at the request of shareholders representing less than 5% of the capital; and the reasons for the rejection of any formal requests for a presence on the Board from shareholders with a holding that is the same or larger than other shareholders at whose request Proprietary Directors have been appointed.

See sections: B.1.3 and B.1.4

Complies

15. If there are few or no female Directors, state the reasons why and the steps taken to correct this situation; and whether in particular the Nomination Committee is ensuring that when new vacancies are filled:

- a) The selection procedures are not implicitly biased against the appointment of female Directors;
- b) The Company deliberately seeks out, and includes among the potential candidates, women who meet the required professional profile.

See sections: B.1.2, B.1.27 and B.2.3

Complies

16. The Chairman, as the person responsible for the efficient operating of the Board, should ensure that Directors receive sufficient information in advance; should stimulate discussions and the active participation by the Directors in Board meetings; should safeguard their freedom to express their opinion and to take a particular position; and should organise and coordinate with the chairmen of the relevant committees the regular assessment of the Board and of the Managing Director or Chief Executive.

See section: B.1.42

Complies

17. When the Chairman of the Board is also the Chief Executive of the Company, one of the Independent Directors should be authorised to request the calling of a Board meeting or the inclusion of further items on the agenda; to coordinate and reflect the concerns of the Non-executive Directors; and to direct the assessment by the Board of its Chairman.

See section: B.1.21

Complies

18. The Secretary to the Board should ensure in particular that the actions of the Board:

- a) Comply with the letter and the spirit of the law and regulations, including those approved by regulatory bodies;

In particular, justified reasons shall be considered to exist when the Director has failed to perform his duties or is in one of the situations described in section III.5 of the definitions given in this Code.

 - i) Number of shares or share options allotted in the year, and the conditions for exercising the options;

G – OTHER RELEVANT INFORMATION

If you consider that there is any significant principle or aspect of corporate governance practice applied by the Company that is not covered by this report, give details of any such principle or aspect below.

A.1. The General Meeting held on 18 September 2010 decided to increase the capital by a maximum of eleven million seven hundred and three thousand eight hundred and fifty-four euros and twenty-five cents (€11,703,854.25) through the issue of ninety-three million six hundred and thirty thousand eight hundred and thirty-four (93,630,834) ordinary shares in the same class, with a nominal value of €0,125 each, to be subscribed through non-cash contributions of shares in Banco Guipuzcoano, S.A. However, as a result of having allocated part of the company's own shares as payment for the takeover bid, the increase of capital was made only in the amount of seven million nine hundred and fifty-three thousand eight hundred and fifty-four euros and twenty five cents (€7,953,854.25), with the issue of sixty-three million six hundred and thirty thousand eight hundred and thirty-four (63,630,834) ordinary shares in the same class, with a nominal value of €0,125 each. This increase led to some of the changes in holdings set out in section A.2.

B.1.11.a). The contributions to pension plans in the amount of €2,349 thousand were made through insurance policies. In the previous year, the contributions amounted to €9,044 thousand.

No remuneration accrued in Banco Guipuzcoano is included, and this will be set out in that bank's annual information.

B.1.11.d). The percentages shown in table B.1.11.d) are calculated on the profits attributed to the Group.

B.1.12: In addition to the senior management remuneration indicated, payments into pension plans of €2,631 thousand were made through insurance policies. In the previous year, the contributions amounted to €3,827 thousand.

No remuneration accrued in Banco Guipuzcoano is included, and this will be set out in that bank's annual information.

B.1.25. Although an age limit of 75 is indicated in the table, the Articles of Association do not specify a maximum age for Directors, but do specify a maximum age for being appointed Director (70), so in no circumstances may a Director be over 75 during a term of office, which is limited to 5 years.

B.1.29. In addition to the information given in this point, meetings of the following Board committees were held during the year:

Number of meetings of the Strategy Committee	5
Number of meetings of the Risk Control Committee	25

B.2.1. In addition to the information given in this point, the following persons attended the committee meetings indicated:

Executive Committee: José Luis Negro Rodríguez, in his capacity as Secretary non-member.

Risk Control Committee: In 2009, the Deputy Secretary to the Board of Directors and Comptroller General, José Luis Negro Rodríguez, joined this committee:.

Audit and Control Committee: Miquel Roca i Junyent, as Secretary non-member.

Strategy Committee: Miquel Roca i Junyent, as Secretary non-member.

C.2. Without prejudice to point C.3, no significant transactions were carried out with significant shareholders; those effected were part of the normal course of business and were on an arm's length basis.

C.3. Transaction described in section C.3: On 22 June 2010 a building in Paseo de Gracia (Barcelona) was sold by Banco de Sabadell, S.A. and SOLVIA DEVELOPMENT, S.L. (a company in the Banco de Sabadell Group) to PUNTA NA, S.A.U. for €51,175,000 (excluding tax), although the ultimate transferee was a financial institutions with which PUNTA NA, S.A.U. came to a leasing arrangement. PUNTA NA, S.A.U. is a company controlled by Mr. Isak Andic Ermay.

The purchaser was proposed as being the best offer, by an outside estate agent holding exclusive instructions from the vendors and following a selection procedure in which all interested parties identified by the agent had been assessed. The operation was approved by the Board of Directors on the recommendation of the Audit and Control Committee.

Apart from this, no other operations that could be considered relevant have been carried out with directors or senior executives of the Company; the rest have been in the ordinary course of business or at market rates or on special terms for employees.

D.2. In Credit risk, the current generalised financial and economic crisis has led to an increase in bad debts that has been most significant in those segments related to real estate. Even so, the Company's NPL ratios are lower than the average for the sector and its levels of cover are higher.

The established model, based on management by responsibility and a structured analysis method that requires an assessment by the relationship manager and the risk analyst, along with continuous updating of internal rating systems, are essential for achieving these results. Control of procedures, application of rating/scoring systems in the decision-making processes and anticipation of monitoring systems show the excellent performance of the circuits and the high predictive power of the tools used.

With respect to the credit risk arising from market operations, in-depth analysis carried out prior to setting operating limits for the different counterparties, and on-going monitoring thereof, allows early detection of potential increases in exposure and curtailment of the possible effects for the Banco Sabadell Group, which has not incurred any significant losses during the year on this account although credit risk has in fact been one of the most significant sources of losses in other banks and in international markets.

With regard to liquidity risk, initially the globalised financial crisis meant a drastic shutting down of finance markets to which the Bank had access through multiple bond and securitization programmes. This meant adjusting its liquidity policies by intensifying the capacity for obtaining financing through traditional markets such as deposits. Specific opportunities for accessing the capital markets were taken up where possible, and the level of liquid assets qualifying as collateral under European Central Bank rules was increased by the creation of asset-backed debt instruments in order to augment the Group's line of contingent liquidity with the ECB.

Incidents in the operational risk category were few and insignificant; the main problems in this area in recent years arose from operating mechanisms related to the closure of transactions. Fraudulent transactions and errors in processing operations were also insignificant, as were failures with computer systems.

As for market risk, market fluctuations meant that the Banco Sabadell Group's open positions (both discretionary and structural) are at times subject to latent losses depending on market trends. The system of exposure limits ensures that potential losses are minimized and that only relatively small exposures are accepted. In the adverse market situation that has prevailed throughout the year, the operating limits have functioned correctly, alerting VaR limits to periods of extreme volatility. At the same time, the stop-loss limits have enabled losses to be minimised.

Finally, the rigorous policy on selection of life insurance risks adopted by the Group's insurance company, and the use of conservative actuarial tables, enables us to mitigate the life insurance risks.

The Company has adopted the Group's financial criteria in accordance with the principles of consistency, profitability, security, liquidity, dispersal and diversification of insurance regulations. The Bank assigns investments to insurance operations pursuant to Article 33.a) of the Private Insurance Regulations, and consequently these coincide in amount and time with the flow of receipts to meet the obligations in respect of its portfolio of policies. The controls in place allow the causes of claims to be identified and the appropriate measures to be adopted to situate them at suitable levels.

E.5. Notwithstanding the contents of this point, the General Meeting is chaired by the Director appointed by the Board of Directors, whether or not he is Chairman of the Board. The Board generally designates its Chairman for this duty. In order to guarantee the independence and proper functioning of the General Meeting, its rules of procedure were adopted in 2003 and these set out in transparent detail its mode of operation.
